Rebel MLA MTB Nagaraj jumps ship; flies to Mumbai

Tells family members he is going to a temple but takes a plane to Mumbai

Bengaluru, July 14 (KMS& BCT)- After assuring Congress leaders that he will withdraw his resignation last night, Hoskote rebel MLA MTB Nagaraj sang the famed "Catch me if you can" song written by Johnny Wakelin as he ran towards the aircraft to board a special flight to Mumbai from the HAL Airport in Bengaluru this morning. He apparently told his family members today that he was going to a temple in Bengaluru but instead headed to Mumbai.

Nagaraj joined the renegade Legislators holed up at a hotel in Mumbai. Interestingly, BJP leader R. Ashoka was spotted along with Nagaraj at the HAL Airport. BJP insiders said that Nagaraj was contacted yesterday midnight by Ashoka and Aravind Limbavali, who are believed to have convinced Nagaraj to jump ship.

International Jawa Day

Iconic mean machines vroom on city roads

Mysuru, July 14 (MTY&KS)- Jawa lovers celebrated International Jawa Day by taking out a bike rally in city this morning.

More than 300 bikers including from Bengaluru and Kodagu took out a rally with their precious good old Jawa and Yezdi bikes vrooming along the thoroughfares of city. The event was also a platform for Jawa bike enthusiasts to interact with some of the oldest riders and employees of the then Ideal Jawa factory.

The roads came alive with the sounds of two-stroke engines of Yezdi and Jawa bikes as their owners took out their pride possession to mark the day. These iconic machines, called the 'King of Roads', were manufactured by the erstwhile Ideal Jawa (India) Ltd. which had its factory in Yadavagiri.

Ideal Jawa (India) Ltd., manufactured the most sought-after two-wheelers in the 60s and 70s. The land that stood abandoned after the factory stopped production in 1981 was auctioned in 2001.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Female masturbation is finally out in the open. I love it. And by that I mean both the fact that it is out in the open and masturbation itself. Per usual the people most upset about this are middle-aged men and apparently their grandmothers. As a woman self-love, as it were, has always been a difficult subject to talk about because we have been shamed into believing that taking care of a normal desire is a dirty thing that good girls never do. Men on the other hand (no pun intended) have no problem discussing where, when and how often. There is no shame because men are accepted as sexual beings who must spread their seed literally everywhere. Especially outside women's schools and colleges.

In a country that expects its women to be virgins until they marry I would have thought masturbation would be encouraged. Besides, how is a woman to show her husband what makes her happy if she hasn't explored the terrain herself? Women aren't supposed to enjoy sex. But we shouldn't be ashamed because, like eating or sleeping, everyone masturbates. Men, women, fat people, skinny people, dogs, cats, bats, single people, married people, young people, old people — yes old people too! Even your grandmother! She's a widow, what else is she supposed to do? But if you ask granny, she won't admit it. Like you and me, her woman mind has been warped to believe it's a bad thing. Of course, the reason we have to hide all this is because men are afraid that if we do throw off the shawl of shame then perhaps we will discover we don't need them. And god forbid, women figure that out — we may stop having sex with men altogether! And then how are we to have babies, how are we to populate our armies, and how on earth will we have enough conservative jackasses to keep women down? —Radhika Vaz in The Times of India

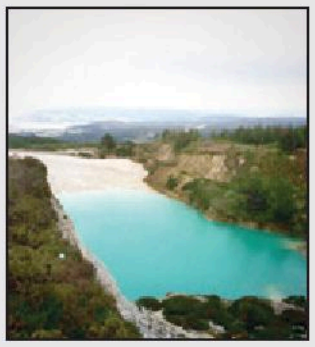
Spain's very own toxic Maldives



Barcelona: Just like a toxic lake near the Russian city of Novosibirsk is making international headlines as the 'Siberian Maldives,' a similarly dangerous attraction is gaining notoriety in Spain. During the first and second World Wars, Monte Neme was a prized tungsten mine that supplied the material necessary for making light bulbs and hardening steel. Today, the mine is no longer accessible, but it remains popular, albeit for a totally different reason.

Galician influencers have discovered that the turquoise lake that now covers the flooded mine is the ideal location for spectacular selfies. Despite knowing that the alluring water contains a high concentration of chemicals that give it its unusual color, they flock to Monte Neme to take photos, and some even bathe in the toxic water.

Mysuru Zoo to celebrate World Snake Day on July 16

Mysuru, July 14- Snakes are incredible creatures, limbless reptiles with long, cylindrical bodies, scaly skin, lidless eyes, and a forked tongue. Most species are not poisonous, some are mildly poisonous, and others produce a deadly poison.

There are at least 20 families, about 500 genera and 3,400 species of snake in the world. There are 270-plus species of snakes in India, out of which about 60 are highly venomous.

Karnataka is home for 130 plus species of snakes out of which around 40 are poisonous. Due to urbanisation, climate change, modernisation and habitat loss, the snakes are at greater threat.

To create awareness about conservation of snakes which are misrepresented reptiles, World Snake Day is celebrated on 16th July every year. World Snake Day can help remove people's fear and illusion about snakes and can be used as a tool to educate and inform people about how to deal with them.

Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens, Mysuru, will be celebrating the snake kingdom and creating awareness of these limbless creatures, trying to shed some light on the most unscientific myths.

The Zoo will be displaying attractive Information Boards and Fun Facts Boards about the snakes in front of the enclosure at Mysuru Zoo on July 16 from 10 am to 5.30 pm.

The general public and snake enthusiasts may avail of this opportunity while visiting the Zoo, according to a press release from the Deputy Conservator of Forests & Executive Director, Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Gardens, Mysuru.

Police-created bottleneck cleared: Thank You, Police Commissioner

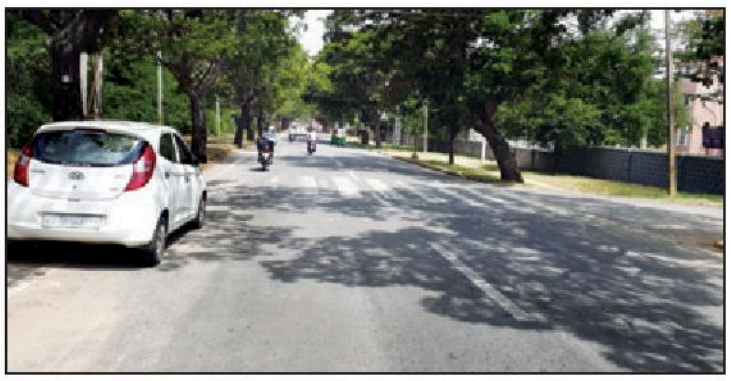
Sir,

I am glad that the City Police have swiftly acted on my letter published in this column on July 12 under the title 'Police-created bottleneck' where I had written about the 10 barricades perpetually placed on the road in front of the Police Training School near Forum City Centre in Nazarbad that was causing a bottleneck for motorists, especially in the peak-hour traffic.

The barricades were erected for the convenience of Police trainees, who cross the road to reach the Parade Ground from their hostel on the other side.

Hours after the letter was published, all the barricades have been removed, facilitating smooth movement of traffic. I thank the City Police Commissioner K.T. Balakrishna for taking immediate action.

Normally, a Government Department does not quickly respond for public grievances. But the City Police Commissioner has proved that immediate action can be taken in the larger interests of the public.



Barricades removed on the road in front of the Police Training School and the photo taken when the barricades were in place.

Such swift action will remain etched in public memory and will go a long way in improving the healthy relationship between the Police and the public.

Remembering C.M. Ramachandra

Sir,

This refers to the news item titled 'Veteran journalist passes away' in yesterday's (July 13) Star of Mysore on page 3.

I have been reading Star of Mysore for over 35 years and if my memory serves me right, C.M. Ramachandra, popularly known as CMR, was writing for Star of Mysore for five to six years. But maybe inadvertently it was not mentioned in the news item. A journalist par excellence, he was known for his mastery of political developments in Karnataka and used to write political commentaries. He also had a soft corner for Kodagu and its identity and wrote a number of articles about Kodagu.

Unfortunately today, one cannot find a journalist of

CMR's calibre, who are a rarity these years. May his soul rest in peace.

Gag on media, falling revenues discussed at Mysuru lit fest

NDTV Managing Editor Sreenivasan Jain speaking on the topic 'Is the Fourth Pillar of Democracy still strong?' at the session organised as part of the third edition of Mysuru Literature Festival in city yesterday as Journalist K.N. Shanth Kumar and Star of Mysore Managing Editor Vikram Muthanna look on. Picture right shows a section of the audience in rapt attention.

Mysuru, July 14(YDS&DM)- An organised efforts were on to make the media toe the line of the rulers or else to gag them either by hook or crook, said NDTV Managing Editor Sreenivasan Jain.

He was speaking on the topic 'Is the Fourth Pillar of Democracy still strong?' at the session organised as part of the third edition of Mysuru Literature Festival at Jyothi Hall, Hotel Southern Star on Vinoba Road in city yesterday.

Observing that this concerning situation existed even during the previous governments, Jain noted that this scenario has deteriorated further. He added that tactics that are being used to control media is now getting more organised.

Replying to queries by Star of Mysore Managing Editor Vikram Muthanna, who was one of the panellists, Sreenivasan Jain said that a hypocritical culture has creeped into the media. Claiming that the stature of media is getting deteriorated with over 400 news channels and one lakh daily newspapers in place, he said that he had never seen such a scenario in his 25 years of journalism.

Journalist K.N. Shanth Kumar, who was another panellist, said that it was true that the media which is considered as the Fourth Pillar of Democracy has become weak now. While some senior journalists say that the Fourth Pillar has collapsed, Shanth Kumar said that currently no one says that the Fourth Pillar is on a strong wicket.

Pointing out that it was not correct to blame the Government for everything, he, however, agreed that more organised efforts were going on now than before to control the media. Observing that the economics of the print media has changed over the past decades, he said that the print media was more dependent on advertisements for revenues.

Noting that newspapers were cheaper in India when compared to other countries, he said that the print media earns 80 percent of its revenue from advertisements and even the government release advertisements to the print media in a higher proportion.

When SOM Managing Editor Vikram Muthanna pointed out that the Congress Government too attempted to throttle the media during Emergency, Sreenivasan Jain said that it was time to have a look at the current scenario.

Admitting that the Congress too had attempted to choke the media in the past, Jain opined that the pressure and threats then were not in such scale that we are seeing today. "Another form of Emergency exists now," he observed. Replying to another question by Vikram Muthanna on corruption in media, Jain said that there will be rotten fruits too in a basket and everyone cannot be measured with the same scale.

Shanth Kumar said that the digital media is snatching away advertisements that normally went to the traditional media. Noting that the print media is facing a digital media onslaught and is also facing a huge challenge on earning advertisement revenues, Shanth Kumar opined that quality journalism is getting costlier.

The panellists also took on questions from the audience. The earlier session saw panellists discussing the book "The Courtesan, the Mahatma and the Italian Brahmin – Tales from Indian History."

Book author Manu S. Pillai, replying to a query by another panellist Preethi Maroli on the usage of the word Ammachi in the book, said that in Kerala, pregnant women were not called pregnant and instead they were referred to someone having something in their stomach. After the woman gave birth, these very people used to say that the stomach has been downloaded and this was the practice when Kerala was ruled by kings.

Pointing out that there was a lot of difference between Kalidasa's Shakunthala and the actual Shakunthala, Pillai said that historians cannot claim that whatever they have written was true. The writers only script upon presuming what may have happened at that point of time, he pointed out.

Pramoda Devi lauds Literary Festival topics

Mysuru, July 14- The third edition of the Mysuru Literature Festival began here on Saturday with author Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik delivering his key-note address on "Ramayana Vs Mahabharata".

Pramoda Devi Wadiyar from the erstwhile Mysuru Royal family inaugurated the two-day fest, organised by the Mysuru Literary Forum and Charitable Trust and Mysuru book clubs at Hotel Southern Star on Vinoba Road.

In her inaugural address, Pramoda Devi lauded the organisers for their choice of topics for the discussion.

Observing that the flexibility in the topics will bring its own flavour to the festival, Pramoda Devi said that she was saddened by the demise of playwright Girish Karnad, who had inaugurated the first edition of the festival in 2017 and added that his death has left a void in the literary world.

A book exhibition has been organised at the venue of Literary Festival.

Noted Director T.S. Nagabharana, who spoke after releasing the booklet titled The Book Leaf, recalled the works of Jnanpith awardee Girish Karnad and said that he was representing Karnad in the literature festival.

Stating that he owes his 30 movies to Girish Karnad, Nagabharana said that literature festivals always carry responsibilities over its shoulders. Pointing out that only literature has the capability to see human beings as humans, he observed that humans should have to take the neutral path, keeping aside Right and Left ideologies.

Emphasising on the importance of the Littérateurs in educating the Society, Nagabharana said while the mind is engaged in a lot of calculation, the heart through its emotions can relate to humans better.

Press freedom remains misnomer even today: Shobhaa De

Mysuru, July 14 (US&RKB)- "Press freedom though hyped about over the years remains a misnomer even today as censorship still exists," opined Writer Shobhaa De.

She was replying to a question posed by Writer Mahesh Rao during a panel discussion on 'Shobhaa at 70 — Selective memory' on the second and concluding day of the third edition of Mysuru Literature Festival-2019 underway at Hotel Southern Star here this morning.

Shobhaa pointed out that posting any information on social media is difficult now as a possible threat always looms large. Referring to 'MeToo' episodes that shook the nation some time ago, she regretted that many of the accused have returned to work thus closing the chapter. She opined that it was the right occasion when many harassed women were able to vent the agony they had experienced.

She suggested youngsters 'Be yourself' suggesting them that there is no necessity to ape anyone.

Peace across globe is vital

Speaking at the panel discussion on 'From diplomacy to peace-building in South Asia through music', former Indian Ambassador to the US Nirupama Menon Rao opined that a successful diplomat can bring peace between two countries.

She observed that communication is super fast now, thanks to internet and social media. She contended that a diplomat can no longer sit in an ivory tower like decades ago, as the person carries a lot of responsibility to be exercised cautiously. She opined that India is good in maintaining peace.

When questioned as to why problem is never ending with neighbouring Pakistan, Nirupama observed that Jammu and Kashmir was the bone of contention and asserted that peace efforts should be initiated by Pakistan.

Ramayana and Mahabharata have parallels: Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik

Mysuru, July 14 - Delivering the keynote address during the inauguration of the two-day Mysuru Literature Festival, Mythologist, Writer and Star of Mysore columnist Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik said that both the two greatest epics-Ramayana and Mahabharata, are selling people the idea of Dhamastastra.

Speaking on his book 'Ramayana versus Mahabharata,' he said that the authors of the epics-Valmiki and Vyasa, were part of the epics and that is why the epics are Ithihasa, meaning History.

Pointing out that unlike Puranas, which were the interpretations of the people, Pattanaik said that people could not understand the Dharmashastra and thus it was retold in the form of epics.

Mythologist, Writer and Star of Mysore columnist Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik delivering his talk on his book 'Ramayana versus Mahabharata,' at the Mysuru Literature Festival being held at Hotel Southern Star here yesterday.

Observing that Indian faiths such as Jainism, Buddhism and Sanathana Dharma are not judgemental and does not speak about justice, he said that their philosophy is about Dharma and Moksha. In these faiths, God is not a judge, who decides whether one is right or wrong or whether one is good or bad. God is just an accountant, who takes stock of one's deeds and decides if one is eligible for Moksha, he maintained.

Pointing out that both Ramayana and Mahabharata were written when the Indian society was at the crossroads, the Writer said that the first chapter of both the epics deal with the birth and growth of the protagonists. The second chapter is Vanaparva or the seasoning of the protagonists to become rulers, he opined.

Stating that both the epics end with wars and post-war tragedies, he said that while Dharmashastra is difficult to explain to the people, the epics, by way of story-telling, are easier for the people to understand.

Continuing, Pattanaik said that the epics were written down even though they were in the oral form earlier, at a time when there was a conflict between the variants of Sanathana Dharma and the variants of Bouddha Dharma and added that it was a conflict between two schools of thought, for a choice between a hermit and a householder.

Maintaining that a lot of people were unaware that the occurrence of Ramayana and Mahabharata was different from the period in which the two epics were written, Pattanaik guessed that the epics may have been written between 300 BC and 300 AD. They could have been written anytime during the 600 years between 300 BC and 300 AD, he added.

He further said that the period during which the two epics were written was after the collapse of the Maurya dynasty and the rise of the Gupta Dynasty which roughly dates back to 2,000 years.

Wellknown Film Director B. Suresha who was a panelist on the topic Chalana Chitra Prapanchadalli Nirdeshakara Kamaal said that the way he used to read novels changes after he watched Girish Kasaravalli's film Mane which was a cinema of its own kind.

Pointing out that even writer Vydehi too had welcomed the change that the movie had brought about, Suresha said that novel based cinemas were like the shoots of a tree. Calling upon all writers to scrutiny the scripts with an open mind, he observed that every cinema paved the way for a new learning.

DC Abhiram G. Sankar, Rangayana Director Bhageerathi Bai Kadam, Chairperson of Mysuru Literary Forum and Charitable Trust Shubha Sanjay Urs, Vice-Chairman Sam Cherian, Writer Preeti Nagaraj and others were present.

Parts of River Lakshmanatheertha that is a tributary of River Cauvery in Hunsur has gone partially dry due to lack of rainfall in Kodagu.

- District receives only 9 mm rainfall in the last 24 hours; waterfalls weaken.
- KRS water level stands at 89.85 feet against a maximum level of 124.80 feet.
- Weatherman predicts that rains might pick up pace after July 17.

Madikeri, July 14 (PS&BCT)- Monsoon has taken a break in Kodagu and in the last 24 hours, the average rainfall recorded in the entire district is 9 mm. While Madikeri taluk (the main catchment of River Cauvery) received 22.23 mm, Virajpet received 3.6 mm and Somwarpet taluk received 3.8 mm rainfall.

Other places in Kodagu where it usually rains heavily in July including Napoklu, Madikeri, Sampaje, Virajpet, Bittangala, Kadanoor, Bethri, Kutta, Balele, Kanoor and Nagarahole border have also received rainfall that is below 10 mm.

Due to deficient rainfall, all the main waterfalls in Kodagu that usually cascade in their full splendour usually during this season are getting weaker with only small amount of water flowing down. Kodagu is home for a number of waterfalls which is a must-visit, especially during monsoon season.

Waterfalls including Irupu Falls, Chelavara Falls, Abbey Falls, Mallalli falls, Chikli Hole dam, and Unchalli Falls look like dry season falls where water is flowing like a rivulet. This is the time when thousands of tourists make a beeline to Kodagu to witness the splendid waterfalls and stay at home stays amidst tranquil, pristine and serene atmosphere.

Tourism hit hard

But tourism stakeholders say that the industry has been hit hard this season with the number of tourists dropping drastically. Abbey Falls in Madikeri is located between private coffee plantations with stocky coffee bushes and spice estates with trees entwined with pepper vines. Sadly, last year's floods and landslides have destroyed the neighbouring regions of the falls.

Waterfalls weakened

A hanging bridge that has been constructed just opposite the Abbey falls has been destroyed and the Tourism Department and the District Administration have so far not bothered to repair the same. Even the Mallalli Falls, situated in the northern region of Kodagu with River Kumaradhara as the main source for the waterfall, lacks water. This spectacular falls where water gushes down from the river and the mist and the green hills around adding to the green beauty, usually attracts hordes of tourists.

Same is the case with Chelavara Falls, a tributary of River Cauvery near Cheyyandane village, Irupu Falls located in the Brahmagiri Ranges of Kodagu, bordering Wayanad district of Kerala and Chikklihole Dam located in a reserved forest near Kushalnagar.

Due to less inflow of water, the water level at KRS stood at 89.85 feet (15.898 tmcft) this morning with a maximum level being 124.80 feet. The inflow stands at 4,902 cusecs with an outflow of 399 cusecs.

No signs of heavy rainfall

Weather experts said that despite the South West Monsoon prevailing over the region, there are no signs of heavy rainfall or a 'monsoon-like' rainfall this month. It has been over 45 days since the South West Monsoon set in the State, but there is a deficit rainfall this year across districts. The lull period that began in the first week of July is expected to continue till July 18 and even after that the rainfall will range from light showers to moderate rains.

"As of now, the trend is that the South West Monsoon has reached the foothills of Himalayas, so the South Interior Karnataka will have lull period for some more time. We are seeing some light showers during the weekend in few parts of the city and State," an official said.

Bad monsoon

This year it has been a bad monsoon. "There are usually these kinds of period which we call a Break Monsoon, where these lull periods will be there and some rainfall will happen," said scientists. The India Meteorological Department (IMD) officials have said that this year monsoon will be subdued. "This year's condition is slightly different from previous years. This is not the usual monsoon. There used to be cloudy and windy weather, but due to various reasons we are not seeing that."

Met Department says that there is a ray of hope in the next week (July 17 and 18) wherein the South Interior Karnataka might receive some rainfall.

Restrictions at Mallalli Falls

Madikeri, July 14 (PS&BCT)- Anticipating more rains after July 15 and the rush of water at the famed waterfalls of Kodagu, the District Administration has decided to file case against offenders who refuse to follow precautionary rules at Mallalli Falls in Somwarpet taluk.

After over 14 lives were claimed at Mallalli Falls, the Administration has taken up protective measures at this tourist spot. Like other falls in the district, Mallalli Falls is a favourite destination for tourists visiting Kodagu during vacations.

Mallalli falls, cascading from a height of around 150 foot in Bettadalli Gram Panchayat jurisdiction, attracts tourists. It is situated at a distance of three kilometres from Hanchinalli village, on the way from Shanthalli to Pushpagiri.

So far, a total of 14 tourists, who visited the falls, have lost their lives. Some tourists have been creating a nuisance by misbehaving and littering waste in the spot. Following this, local residents have urged the District Administration to take proper measures for the protection of tourists. Last year, the Administration installed iron rods and grills near the falls. Security has now been strengthened following increased number of fatal accidents.

Kodagu DC Annies Kanmani Joy has instructed Somwarpet Police to book cases of trespassing against tourists and locals who break the rule and enter the water or cross the barricades.

Hey Listen! Music Plays as you enter

Kalamandira Garden

- Stone Pergolas enhance aesthetic beauty of the Abode of Art & Theatre
- Historical inscriptions of several rulers to give a heritage touch

Stone Pergola set up at Kalamandira steps up the aesthetic beauty of the Art and Culture Hub.

By M.T. Yogesh Kumar

Mysuru, July 14- Yes, you heard it right. Soothing music will play as you enter the Kalamandira Garden and you can get lost in the musical notes amidst cool breeze if you choose to go there in the evenings.

The vast front arena of Kalamandira that already has Chinthana Chavadi, shaped like a well where people can have a 360-degree view of speakers and participants has a new addition — a beautiful heritage garden that adds to the existing list of iconic sections like Bhoomigeeta, Vanaranga, Sriranga, Kiru Rangamandira, Maneyangala and Dundu Kana.

The Garden at Kalamandira, where art is celebrated and worshipped, has been developed by Bank Note Paper Mill India Private Limited (BNPMIPL) at a cost of Rs. 41 lakh that was sanctioned from its Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) funds. The Garden has been beautified stage by stage and initially, Rs. 20 lakh was thought to be the estimate but it touched Rs. 41 lakh as more and more features were added.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Kannada and Culture Department Assistant Director Hanur Chennappa said that the Garden was built by BNPMIPL following a proposal from the Deputy Commissioner and it has been built in heritage fashion keeping in mind the heritage city concept.

Hexagonal stone Pergolas have been built to enhance the beauty of Kalamandira at the centre of the Garden and another one at the entrance. Below the Pergolas, Dry Garden concept has been implemented. Dry Garden is a garden that is designed to require little or no watering, typically containing ornamental rocks and stones or plants which thrive in dry.

One more Peragola inside Kalamandira campus.

Sadarahalli stones

The Garden has been beautified to have an aesthetic look with Sadarahalli stones. There is a fountain where water will spill over from the hoses constantly. "The fountain will be given a rubber coat so that water can be retained round the year and to prevent algae deposits," he said.

Fourteen stone pedestal lamps have been installed and as one enters the Garden, soothing music will play. "We aim to take the visitor to a different world. After a day's hard work, art-lovers can come to this abode to unwind and amidst cool breeze they can listen to music. Loudspeakers are being installed for the music to play and the songs will reflect the art, culture and heritage of the land," Chennappa explained.

Historical inscriptions

The sprawling seven-acre campus is neatly maintained and the Kalamandira frontage has now got a facelift with a heritage garden. Five caparisoned elephant sculptures will come up inside the Garden to further enhance its beauty. All the works have been implemented by Nirmithi Kendra, a Government Agency. The uneven walkway near the parking lot has been levelled and interlocking tiles have been laid.

Interestingly, historical inscriptions of various periods where Karnataka was ruled by kings and chieftains will be laid inside the Garden. These inscriptions will be procured from various archaeological sites of Karnataka. This move will further embellish the Garden, giving it a real heritage value.

Second phase of works

In the second phase of works, the upgradation of toilets will be taken up and the works on Kalamandira auditorium will be initiated. "These works include installation of Air-Conditioners inside the Hall. As it is a big hall, an AC of good quality must be installed. Earlier, one AC was installed using JnNURM grants but it is defunct now," Chennappa added.

A proposal has been sent to BNPMIPL requesting for CSR funds for the second phase of the work. "The detailed estimate will be prepared and Nirmithi Kendra will be implementing the works in the second phase too and there will be no involvement of private agencies," he said.

A brainchild of R. Gundu Rao

For the record, Kalamandira is a brainchild of former Chief Minister late R. Gundu Rao. Gundu Rao, who had studied in Mysuru and had a great affinity for the place had a dream that all cultural activities must happen here including dance, drama, art shows and Karnataka Kalamandira today is living up to his dreams.

But when the building was being constructed, there was stiff opposition from many intellectuals in Mysuru as they felt that the serene atmosphere of Kukkarahalli Lake would be destroyed. However, Gundu Rao sanctioned the land for the project and it was completed in 1985 when Ramakrishna Hegde was the Chief Minister.

Earlier, Kalamandira was under the supervision of Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) and it was handed over to the Kannada and Culture Department on 15.12.1989. The Department is maintaining Kalamandira since then.

New-look Kalamandira inauguration tomorrow

The beautified Kalamandira and its ornate gardens, interlocking system, park pathway and Pergolas will be inaugurated on Monday, July 15 (tomorrow) at 5 pm by Director, Kannada and Culture Directorate K.M. Janaki.

Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar will preside. Bank Note Paper Mill India Private Limited (BNPMIPL) Chief General Manager K.G. Vishwanathan will inaugurate the works, retd. Chief General Manager A.K. Mandal, Deputy General Manager S. Sundar Raj, District Industries Department Joint Director Lingaraj, Rangayana Joint Director V.N . Mallikarjunaswamy will be the chief guests on the occasion.

Stones are being laid in an artistic fashion to reflect the overall theme of Kalamandira that tirelessly promotes art and culture.

The Forest Department personnel had found the carcasses of the two wild cats which had died in a suspicious manner and had registered a case.

The Forest Department personnel, on May 28, had found the carcasses of the tiger and the leopard in a decomposed state and had also found a carcass of a calf nearby. Suspecting that miscreants may have poisoned the carcass of the calf which later was devoured by the two wild cats resulting in their death, the Forest Department, which had registered a case, took up the investigation.

Following the post-mortem reports which stated that the tiger and the leopard had died after consuming meat mixed with poison, Bandipur Project Tiger Director T. Balachandra had instructed RFO S.D. Rajesh, DRFO Madhuraj to take up the investigation.

Following the instruction, RFO S.D. Rajesh, DRFO Madhuraj and staff of Omkar Range with the help of Gundlupet Police, conducted investigation during which they came to know that Manju, Shekar, Madesh, Shankarappa, Veerabhadrappa and Madesh, all residents of Terakanambi, had mixed poison to the carcass of a calf which was killed by the tiger.

Yesterday morning, the Forest staff and the Police arrested Veerabhadrappa and have launched a hunt to nab the other five accused who are absconding.

During interrogation, the accused is said to have confessed of poisoning the carcass to stop wild animals preying on cattle.

Forest staff Basavaraju, Raghavendra, Devaraju, Harish, Siddanayaka, Haneef and others took part in the operation.

'Parent Craft' programme held at Columbia Asia Hospital

Mysuru, July 14- "Being active during pregnancy is going to improve the health of baby and mother, it also avoids other health related complications," said Dr. K. Veena, Consultant, Obstetrics and Gynaecology, Columbia Asia Hospital, Mysuru.

She was speaking at the 'Parent Craft' — an educative awareness programme for pregnant women and their family members — organised by Columbia Asia Hospital at its premises here recently and said that the average weight gain during pregnancy should be between 8 kg and 12 kg.

If they put on more weight there are chances of having back pain and may also end up having diabetes, hypertension and baby gaining more weight due to which the chances of caesarean delivery are more, said Dr. Veena and added inactiveness during pregnancy may worsen the muscles and more problem to baby.

She also mentioned that during pregnancy, most of them want to know about their diet and what type of exercise they can do, how much weight they should gain and when it comes to labour what exactly is the process, how they can make it more comfortable and after delivery how to look after the new-born baby.

Parent Craft, an exclusive programme hosted by Columbia Asia Hospital, is an educative and informative session which covered all the aspects of maternity about pre and post natal care in a unique interactive session which involved doctor interaction, live recipes for a healthy diet, exercises demo for mothers-to-be and live healthy food counters, and baby shower programme. All the participants were also given educative materials.

The rally began near the new Jawa showroom at Saraswathipuram and passed through Hunsur Road, Bogadi Road, Vontikoppal Main Road, Old Jawa Factory Road at Yadavagiri and culminated at Bal Bhavan in Bannimantap.

While motorists gave way for these iconic machines to pass by, the public, especially young boys stood on either sides of the road to have a glimpse of these machines which were once manufactured in their city.

The bikes, which took part in the rally, included Jawa Colt (1970), Jawa Jet (1962), CL 2 and Jawa 350 which include right from 60cc to the 350cc Jawa models, Yezdi 250, Yezdi Roadking, Yezdi Classic, Yezdi Monarch and other models.

Jawa is one of the most iconic motorcycles to have graced the Indian roads. With the first Jawa rolling out of Czechoslovakia in 1929, it made its Indian debut through the efforts of F.K. Irani at Ideal Jawa which started importing them to Mysuru around the mid-1940s.

Jawa bikes are still being actively used today not just by their original owners but have been handed down to generations.

Praveen, Khizer Ahmed, Sameer, Gavin, Jawa Shama, Sangam Manju, Raghu, Hemesh, Krishna, Rickey, Chote Saab and others took part in the rally.

In Kodagu

International Jawa Day was also celebrated at Kodagu, where about 12 riders took out a ride on their prized possession to Chelavara Falls and Kabbe Hills near Kakkabe.

They rode from Mysuru yesterday and stayed overnight at a home stay in Siddapura.

Dilip (home stay owner who also had a 1983 Yezdi), Gagan, Nagendra, Yashwanth, Nithyanand, Harsha, Pruthvi, Mohan, Sachin, Pradeep and Ruthvik participated.

Mummadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar remembered

Mysuru, July 14 (PM&DM)- Marking the 226th birth anniversary of the erstwhile Mysuru ruler Mummadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, the Maharaja's High School and Pre-University College Alumni Association celebrated the Founder's Day at the Maharaja's PU College premises on JLB Road here this morning.

Renowned Film Director M.S. Sathyu, who spoke after inaugurating the event, said that although he was an alumnus of the School, he could not visit the School due to his pre-occupation, despite being invited on a number of occasions. But now the time had come and he was delighted to visit the School where he studied, after many decades, he said.

Recalling his student days, Sathyu, now 89 years old, said that he left college when he was studying B.Sc and went to Mumbai to pursue a career in the theatre.

Stating that he was not a talented student but was very fond of arts and theatre, the veteran Director said that he could not complete B.Sc only because of this love for the theatre.

Pointing out that he always liked to work behind the scene, Sathyu said that although he was not interested in acting, the circumstances forced him to act in some plays and movies.

Giving a word of advice to the students, he observed that developing skills in their chosen profession was more important than merely excelling in academics.

Stressing on the need for everyone to deeply involve themselves in their chosen fields and thus render justice to their job or task, he said that the students have to set their professional goals even as they start attending college.

Remembering the contributions made by Mummadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar for the development of Mysuru, he said that the erstwhile rule set the road map for the growth of the city.

Earlier, floral tributes were paid to the Wadiyar's bust in the college premises.

MTB Nagaraj jumps ship

"R. Ashoka and Aravind Limbavali met MTB Nagaraj and convinced him to side with the BJP. Since Nagaraj could be convinced again by Congress leaders to remain in the party, it was decided that he would suddenly move to Mumbai and stay with the other MLAs until the trust vote," a BJP source said.

Yesterday, Nagaraj had told Congress leaders including former CM Siddharamaiah and Minister D.K. Shivakumar that he will reconsider his resignation and confirmed that has decided to stay back in the party.

But just hours after his 15-hour marathon meeting with Congress leaders, Nagaraj boarded the special flight to Mumbai and joined the other rebel MLAs, showering cold waters on Congress' efforts to bring back the entire rebel MLAs. Congress leaders did not expect the last-minute U-turn by Nagaraj.

Revanna blamed for resignations: Nagaraj blamed the Public Works Department (PWD) Minister and brother of Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy H.D. Revanna, for the rebellion. Nagaraj alleged that Revanna interfered in the transfer of officials in the Housing Department.

"The biggest reason why leaders are unhappy is Revanna. He keeps transferring officials from all departments to suit his needs. I am a Minister and if he transfers officials from my Department, how can any work be carried out properly?" Nagaraj said.

As the crisis that threatens the survival of Karnataka government entered the ninth today resignations by rebel MLAs and attempts to persuade them not to resign continued. Congress Legislature Party (CLP) leader Siddharamaiah has called for a CLP meeting tomorrow at 9 am.

Meanwhile, Kumaraswamy went to his father and JD(S) Supremo H.D. Deve Gowda's residence this morning.

BJP demands trust vote tomorrow: The BJP too upped the ante demanding that Kumaraswamy seek a trust vote tomorrow itself (Monday, July 15), a day prior to the Supreme Court hearing on a similar petition of 10 other rebel MLAs of Congress-JD(S) who have resigned.

"I will request Kumaraswamy to resign immediately because more than 15 MLAs from JDS and Congress, and also two independent Ministers have resigned and they have reflected that they will support the BJP," State BJP President B.S. Yeddyurappa said.

Five more MLAs move SC: Five more rebel Congress MLAs moved the Supreme Court yesterday against the Assembly Speaker not accepting their resignations. These MLAs are Anand Singh, K. Sudhakar, MTB Nagaraj, Munirathna and Roshan Baig. They have sought impleadment in the already pending application filed by the 10 other rebels MLAs on which the hearing is scheduled for Tuesday.

WORD OF THE DAY

Higgledy-piggledy

Pronunciation: hig-ul-dee-PIG-ul-dee.

Meaning: In a confused, disordered, or random manner.

Origin: We really have no idea where higgledy-piggledy came from, but we do know it's a perfect demonstration of English speakers' fondness for reduplication—that is, for forming new words by repetition of a base word often with a slight change of sound. In this case, the base word might actually be the second term, which encompasses the word pig and calls to mind the association of pigs with disorderliness. Although we don't know when exactly higgledy-piggledy first appeared in print, we do know that the word has been around since before 1600. John Florio's A Worlde of Wordes, an English-Italian dictionary first published in 1598, used higgledy-piggledy as a defining term for the Italian word alla rinfusa, along with two other examples of reduplication, pell-mell and helter-skelter.

Example: "Indeed, the hallways of Geokon's offices are lined with metal filing cabinets, and workshops have been added in higgledy-piggledy over the years, giving the premises a haphazard feel." — John Lippman, The Valley News (White River Junction, Vermont).

THE ODD WORD

Hubristic

Proud, excessively self-confident.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Half a loaf is better than no bread

Meaning: Something, even if it isn't what you ideally would prefer, is better than nothing.

Origin: This proverbial saying is first found in the same place as many other proverbial sayings - John Heywood's 1546 glossary A dialogue conteinyng the nomber in effect of all the prouerbes in the englishe tongue:

Throwe no gyft agayne at the giuers head,
For better is halfe a lofe then no bread.

Many proverbs are a form of condensed popular wisdom and 'half a loaf is better than no bread' seems like plain common sense - few would argue with it. Nevertheless, in psychology experiments to determine whether fairness was an innate concept in humans or whether it was learned, pairs of UK and US children have been set the following test: One child is offered four sweets (or candy if you prefer) and the other is offered one. The child with the opportunity to take four sweets is given this choice: A. Either, you get four sweets and the other child gets one. B. Or, you both get nothing. Surprisingly to many, children routinely choose option B and reject the sweets, preferring to maintain a sense of fairness.
